Description

'Black Krim' is one of the oldest and most popular heirloom varieties of black tomatoes. Also known as Black Crimea they were found in 1990 on the Isle of Krim in the Black Sea in the former Soviet Union. This rare, and outstanding variety yields large 8 to 10cm slightly irregular, flattened beefsteak tomatoes. Black Krim is very unique looking, an unusual purple to black skin with green shoulders and reddish-black flesh. Blessed with an extremely rich, earthy true tomato flavor. Very juicy, it is excellent for slicing, salads, and tomato sandwiches.
